Teaching English to pre-school children

20. června 2013 od 9 do 10.30 hod (účast zdarma)

Children are natural language learners and have the ability to acquire a foreign language with ease. In this seminar, we will look at the importance of teaching children solely in the target language, without the use of L1 instruction or translation. You will experience a range of effective teaching strategies and activities, consider the pedagogical principles behind them, and look at how they can be linked together to offer children motivating, meaningful and enjoyable learning, while keeping
