The screenshot shows the Emerald Insight website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links to 'Discover Journals, Books & Case Studies', 'Google', 'About | Emerald Publishing', and a search icon. Below the navigation bar, a light blue banner contains the text 'COVID-19: information on accessing the platform off-site here. Please visit our page.' and a close button. The main header area features the Emerald Insight logo, the tagline 'Discover Journals, Books & Case Studies', and navigation links for 'Explore Our Content', 'My Products', 'Register', and 'Login'. The background of the main content area is a blurred image of a person's hands holding a daisy flower in a field. A large white 'L' shape is overlaid on the background, with the word 'learn' in white text. A search bar is positioned in the lower half of the page, containing the text '"digital literacy" child*'. To the right of the search bar is a magnifying glass icon. Below the search bar, there is a dark teal bar with the text 'Search by title, author, keyword, ISBN, DOI and more' and a red box highlighting the 'Advanced Search' button.

Abstract

Purpose

In a fast-moving world where technology has become intertwined with our daily lives, meaning information is available at our fingertips, information overload (Khabisa and Giles, 2014) is just one of many challenges that this technological overhaul has presented for learners from the primary classroom up to studies within higher education (HE). This paper aims to present skills needed by both pupils and students to navigate their information journey, and discusses how educators can support the acquisition and development of these skills.
